

Birmingham Medal Society Attend Antelope Day in Warwick

The Birmingham Medal Society attended Antelope Day in June putting on a stand to further the society's aims and activities.

This was a free public event in the grounds of St John's House organised by the Friends of the Museum. A military band played between 11am and 2pm and there were military displays and re-enactors.

BMS member John Scott was available with regards to researching the military career of families and to help identify military items.

Guest of honour was Kate Bliss, TV personality from Bargain Hunt and Antiques Roadtrip and many people bought along items for her to value, including BMS member Mick Atkinson.

A good successful day and the weather being very kind.
